What do you consider my strength (list as much as you want)? Could you list examples of when I demonstrated said strength?

Name:	Strengths:	Examples:
Marton	Empathy, Creativity, Communication, Leadership	• In each of our conversations you pose a deep understanding of each problem, one that can only be attained by empathy. By being able to understand people, through your skill of empathy, you can understand complex problems easier having to do with topics from geopolitical tension to economic policy. • You have come up with many impressive ideas that we have worked with. These are ideas from business plans, and creative projects, to possible solutions to the problems we discuss. In addition, you're good at building off of others ideas which demonstrates how your creativity is not only powerful but practical. • Your creativity and empathy would be pointless without your aspect of communication. To easily explain your ideas is a trait not many people have. After our discussions I always come away knowing more because I now know what you do too. It's easy for me to know when we disagree or agree which makes the conversations all the more valuable. • The combination of these traits and a little more on top leads me to yet another trait: leadership. Your ability to understand, communicate, and add a creative spin to things are especially valuable for solving problems and conflicts. I'm constantly impressed by how well you can manage your family and siblings, which Is in part where I believe this instinct originated. Also, of course you are a patrol leader and that only improves your skills.

Csaba	Organized, Communication	• Organized communication; always ready with a plan (helping with organizing events etc.)
Julianna	Persevering, Conscious, Role Model, Caring	• Scout patrol leader • Taking care of siblings
Abel	Helping people	• In History Peter helped me finish my final calendar project
Sabrina	Creative, problem solver, Caring	• Creative and innovative ideas for projects • Helpful in overcoming problems and limitations, quick on his feet during programs. • Handling people and kids with a kind heart.

4. Self portrait

Self Portrait (100 Words)
I see myself as a person who likes to contribute to a team, this is shown by teamwork and cooperation being identified by myself and others. This is where prudence and communication play a pivotal role; essentially, I “Think Before I Speak” making sure to contribute only my best work. My best work is defined by my creativity which I present to others, I take great pride in the work I do. But if it is not up to a standard; I cooperate and work with my team to improve it, this is where cooperation and teamwork show themselves, as well as fairness and honesty which I use to not only improve my work but others as well.
